TURN YOUR CREDITS INTO A BACHELOR'S DEGREE

With DEGREE UP through Herzing University, you can maximize your credits by starting your education at a technical or community college and then finish with your bachelor's degree from Herzing University.

Earning your associate degree is a great step toward a brighter future. Herzing University will help you turn those credits into a bachelor's degree and provide you with the opportunity to earn both degrees in as little as four years.

START HERE • STAY HERE • FINISH HERE

Herzing University has partnered with a number of technical and community colleges to offer DEGREE UP. Start your college education at your local technical or community college to earn your associate degree, then stay there and take additional specified technical or community college courses that count toward your bachelor's degree with Herzing. Courses taken at your local technical or community college will be at the local college's tuition rate. Complete the required Herzing University bachelor's degree courses at a local campus or online and pay the Herzing tuition rate. Maintain enrollment at your local technical or community college until you graduate with a bachelor's degree. Participate in Herzing University's DEGREE UP option and in as little as four years you could earn both an associate and bachelor's degree. You get the best of both worlds: complete coursework at your local technical or community college and at a regionally accredited university with a national presence.

Herzing University will review your college transcripts to help identify the best degree options available to you.

DEGREE UP WORKS WITH YOU AND FOR YOU

Whether you're interested in taking classes online, on-campus, or a mixture of both, DEGREE UP is the plan for you. DEGREE UP maximizes your transfer credits and ensures that you don't have to retake coursework that you have already completed. This allows you to earn a bachelor's degree faster than you thought possible. And what's more, some credits taken with Herzing University through DEGREE UP may be applied toward a master's degree with Herzing University.

NEXT STEPS

1. Earn your associate degree from your technical or community college
2. Apply for the DEGREE UP option through Herzing University
3. Continue to take specified courses at your technical or community college that count toward your bachelor's degree*
4. Complete the required Herzing University bachelor's degree courses
5. Walk across the stage to receive your bachelor's degree!

*Pay the technical or community college rates for the courses taken at the technical or community college
 DEGREE UP provides a lower cost option to achieve your bachelor's degree and earn credits toward your master's degree. Depending on the electives you choose, up to 12 bachelor's degree credits may apply toward an MBA with Herzing University
